Set against a striking emerald marble wall, the Rinnai Linear 1500 stars as one of the main focal points in this home's living room. The designer driftwood logs - modelled after real logs found on New Zealand's West Coast beaches - beautifully complement the lush, earthy tones of this luxe living space, while the blazing fire adds an element of homeliness and utter comfort.

The Rinnai Heat Pump in the upstairs lounge affirms the room's status as an entertainer's paradise. Furnished with clean, modern lines as well as a classy bar area which overlooks Auckland's stunning skyline, this room embodies the essence of urban sophistication while the Heat Pump sits discreetly above to provide top-class climate comfort for every guest within its vicinity.

In the elegant master bedroom, the Rinnai Heat Pump fulfills a more intimate purpose of controlling the room temperature for optimal sleep. Simply switch the system to Sleep Mode using the remote and let it take care of you as you unwind and relax in this tranquil sanctuary.

Neutral tones and wooden textures let the true magnificence of the Rinnai Linear 1500 speak for itself in this home's living room. Placing the TV above the wide-set fireplace doubles the viewing pleasure and transforms this lounge into the ultimate communal space, with an abundance of natural light from the grand skylights above. The level of comfort in the second lounge is maintained by the Rinnai Heat Pump, which hangs high on the wall to provide energy-efficient heating and cooling all around the room.
